

Teaching Evaluations

During my teaching at Oxford, there was no centrally-managed evaluation for the tutor (only for the course). To account for this, I elicited anonymous feedback from my students and report below their responses.

1 Undergraduate Econometrics

What overall feedback would you give your tutor (Giulio Schinaia) about the tutorials?

"They were generally really good! I find this a tricky course, and they were helpful".

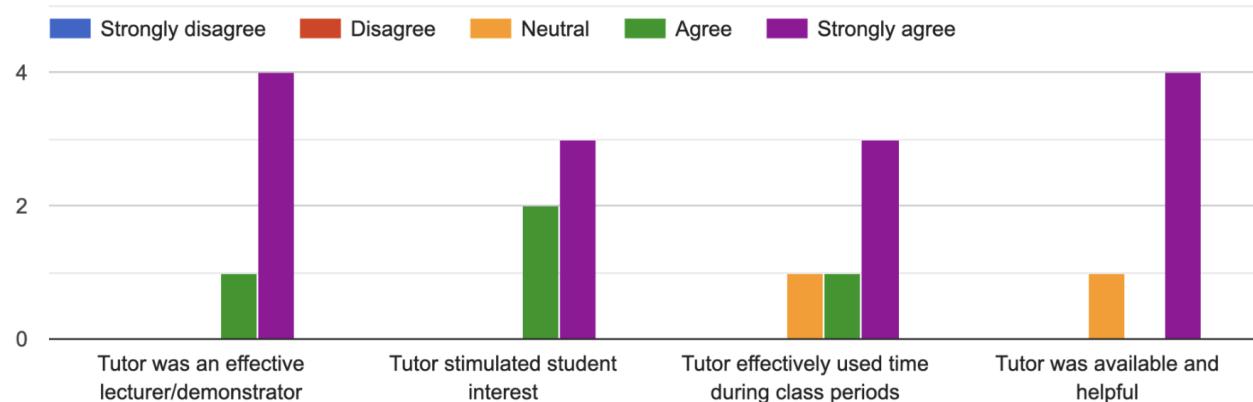

"I really enjoyed the classes and the office hours! The concepts were explained in detail and comments on the problem sheets were very useful. Giulio was always ready to answer the questions we had on areas that were not covered in syllabus . The discussions during the classes were also very lively! In terms of notes from the tutorials, I had plenty to use to revise".

"Good Job".

"Your tutorials were some of my favorites! Really enjoyed working together".

"Enjoyable, and useful".

What overall feedback would you give your tutor (Giulio Schinaia) about the tutorials?

"Pretty intense, fast-paced classes, but ultimately very useful for understanding the questions/my mistakes on the problem sheet. It would be good to also spend time discussing the concepts and material itself, but given limited class time, I think it is more beneficial to remain quite problem-sheet orientated."

"Very good."

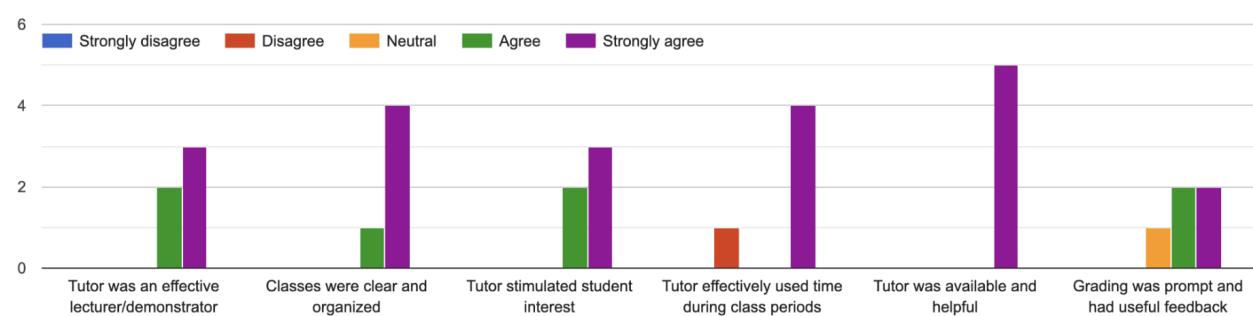

"I think the tutorials are a good learning experience, and help me get a better grasp of the material. The tutor is clearly knowledgeable, and very happy to help the students in any way possible, even outside of the 2 hour class, which I truly appreciate."

"Very passionate and engaging tutor."

"Overall, very positive - well-organised, with good pacing of the tutorials. I also appreciate offering extra office hours and continuing after our scheduled time since it's not always possible to cover all the questions in time."

2 Undergraduate Development Economics

2023

What overall feedback would you give your tutor (Giulio Schinaia) about the tutorials?

"I really looked forward to Giulio's tutorials and always came away feeling like I had consolidated the material. I liked that he always had more tangential reading suggestions of papers that were very recently published as these helped understand the context better."

"It was very enjoyable, as Giulio helped spur on debate around the topics whilst giving us tips on which additional papers / readings may extend our knowledge."

"He seemed very interested and knowledgeable about the subject, and I liked his encouragement for people to ask questions and willingness to answer them. Maybe it would be good to pick up on some of the major or most difficult points of the week that people may not have covered in people's essays (especially if people chose the easiest ones) and make the class answer questions".

"Really good - interesting discussions prompted. Felt that the tutes often overran without warning. Grading wasn't done until near the end, which could have been useful during the term to see progress."

"Very good."
